"THIS IS YOUR LIFE" Zaddie Bunker. When Palm Springs Flying Great-Grandmother landed at Burbank Airport yesterday afternoon, she was met by Ralph Edwards of "This Is Your Life," and Zaddie's story unfolded over the coast-to-coast NBC television network. After the program last night, Mrs. Bunker and her party was hosted to a dinner at the Hollywood-Roosevelt Hotel. Mrs. Bunker called Desert Sun reporter Fred Weigel and exclaimed, "Fred, it was wonderful—I've never been so surprised. That Palm Springs is just filled with conspirators." ZADDIE'S SURPRISE EYED BY MILLIONS

Literally millions of people — from coast to coast — last night turned on their television sets to watch the life story of Palm Springs Flying Great-Grandmother Zaddie Bunker unfold over NBC's national network.

Flying to Burbank under the pretext of attending "an aerological association meeting," Mrs. Bunker was met at the Burbank airport by television cameras and Ralph Edwards of "This Is Your Life" program.

AS THE PLANE taxied up to a pre-arranged spot, Edwards walked up to the plane and said "Hello, Mrs. Bunker, how was your flight up from Palm Springs?"

"It was very good," replied Mrs. Bunker.

"My name is Ralph Edwards," said the man with the microphone. "Oh, I am very happy to know you, Mr. Edwards," said Zaddie in surprise.

"I AM HERE to tell you, Mrs. Zaddie Bunker, flying Great-Grandmother of Palm Springs, This Is Your Life."

And from this point, for a continuous half hour, people of the nation heard the life story of Palm Springs' 71-year-old pioneer, who started her flying career at the age of 65.

Appearing on the program with Zaddie were her sisters, Mrs. Lillie Goff and Mrs. Henrietta Parker, Mrs. Steve Vidosics, Fred Smith, her daughter Frances Strebe, and her son-in-law, Earle Strebe, many grand children and great-grandchildren, Mel Turnbow, who allowed her to solo for her first license, Forrest Bird, Mrs. Frances Bera and Col. Charles Yeager of the U.S. Air Force.

COL. YEAGER BROKE the news to Mrs. Bunker that she was going to be Queen of Armed Forces Day at George Air Force Base near Victorville, and that by special arrangement in Washington she had been given permission to

21 Years Here

Leussler Rites Set Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m., tomorrow, for Harrison Leussler, a publisher's representative for such firms as Hearst, Doubleday, and for the past 39 years, Houghton Mifflin.

Leussler, a Palm Springs resident for 21 years, died yesterday after an illness of several weeks.

BORN IN BOSTON, Leussler was a member of the San Francisco Union League and Press Club, the Hollywood Authors Club and was also a member of the Rotary Club and Masonic Lodge here. An active member of St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal Church, Leussler served for years as a member of the vestry and was junior and senior warden of the church.

Leussler, who lived at 1285 San Jacinto Way, is survived by his wife, Margaret, a daughter, Mrs. Berman Griffin, of Granby, Conn., and two sisters, Mrs. John Walsh of New York City and Mrs. Frank Fortier of Scarsdale, N. Y.

Rev. WILLIAM A. Blondin, former pastor of St. Paul's, will conduct the funeral with interment to follow in Welwood Murray Cemetery here.

In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that contributions be made to the American Cancer Society, Market Street, in Riverside.

UJW Drive In $100,000 Village Goal

Campaign to Begin With Dinner on March 8 in Center

A goal of $100,000 has been established for Palm Springs by the United Jewish Welfare Drive, it was announced here today.

The large jump in quota was explained by the situation in eastern Europe which the UJW Drive termed "crucial."

"ONE HUNDRED thousand Jews are awaiting emigration there," the UJW announcement said. The bulk of the campaign this year is to be directed to transferring and settlement of those people in Israel, the Drive announced.

Formal opening of the campaign in the Village will be held at a dinner on March 8 in the Jewish Community Center here. A list of guest speakers and entertainment is to be announced later this week.

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE for Palm Springs includes: Emil Laufer, campaign coordinator; Mrs. Charles Bonoff, Eddie Cantor, Hon. William A. Friedman, honorary chairmen; Stanley Rosin, Henry Birns, Abe Levin, advance gifts chairman; Sig Ehren, secretary; Bernard Ginsberg, treasurer; Mrs. David Lager, telephone committee chairman; Mrs. Henry Shellow, publicity chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Max Grone, affairs arrangements chairman.

Other committee members are John Chernus, Joseph Fahn, Harry Freiberg, Dr. Julius Kaplan, Lew Levy, David Lager, Zachary Pitts, Saul Ruskin, Abe Schwartz and Lieb Rosen.

Steinberg Leaves For Democratic Finance Meeting

Lionel Steinberg, Coachella Valley rancher and Palm Springs resident, left today for Washington, D. C., where he will attend a meeting of the Democratic National Finance Committee and confer with congressional leaders on farm problems.

Steinberg represents California on the 30-member finance committee. He will urge that "dollars for Democrats" be held annually, on a specified date. For the past three years he has served as chairman of the "Dollars for Democrats" campaign in California.

Recently appointed to the State Board of Agriculture by Governor Edmund Brown, he will confer on farm problems with Congressman D. S. Saund; U. S. Senator Clair Engle; Congressman Harold A. Cooley, of the House Farm Committee, and U. S. Senator Hubert Humphrey, of the Senate Farm Committee.

He expects to be gone approximately five days.

Mrs. Luce Gets Brazil Post Bid

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower today nominated Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former U. S. Ambassador to Italy, to be Ambassador to Brazil.

The White House announced that the nomination of Mrs. Luce had been sent to the Senate for confirmation.

LION TAMER'S PALS RUSH TO AID HIM—WOUND HIM 3 TIMES

MATANZAS, Cuba (UPI) — Raul Batista Salido, a lion tamer, is recovering from three bullet wounds inflicted by friends who opened fire on an enraged lion that attacked him during a circus performance.

The lion escaped unscathed.

TWO PERSONS WERE INJURED, one seriously, when this auto reportedly sped through a boulevard stop sign and slammed into a huge semi-trailer truck on North Indian Avenue at Dillon Road late yesterday afternoon. Seriously injured was Mrs. Florence Leuer, 73, of Montrose, a passenger in the car driven by her husband, John Leuer, 75, who received minor injuries. California Highway Patrol officers said Leuer apparently failed to stop his car when he turned left onto Indian Avenue from Dillon Road, slamming into the side of the southbound truck. Leuer was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way. He and his wife were taken to Desert Hospital. The truck driver, Daniel Chester, 38, of Indio, was uninjured. (Desert Sun Photo)

Municipal Golf Lease Signing Slated Tonight

Mayor Frank Bogert, following an executive session of the council last night, adjourned the meeting to 8 p.m., tonight, at which time the body will discuss and sign the lease agreement on the proposed municipal golf course.

City Attorney Jerry Bunker said today that the fourth and final draft of the lease has been completed, and that most of the exhibits were finished.

Yet to be completed is a meter and bounds description of the course, and a final inventory of the equipment that will be included in the lease-purchase.

Councilman George Beebe, Jr., read off a long list of the equipment last night, and reported that it has been valued at $45,788.

The special session of the council will be held in the Council Chambers at the City Hall.

MRA ROLE 'REAL' FOR GERMAN GIRL

When Hannelore Krieg goes on stage at Palm Springs High School Auditorium at 8:30 p. m., tonight, in the second of three Moral Re-Armament presentations in the Village, it will represent one of the best jobs of casting to be done on a legitimate stage in years.

"I play," she said yesterday, "the part of a German girl who escapes from Communist East Germany."

IN 1950, HANNELORE — carefully concealed in a huge truck — lived her role, escaping to West Berlin. If there is a special vigor, a special fire in her performance tonight, it is because the former Communist actress knows exactly whereof she speaks when she reads the lines furnished by playwright Phyllis Konstam Austin.

"I don't feel bitter anymore about Communism," she said. "I'd like to help them understand about MRA."

Disillusioned badly by Hitler's Fascist doctrines and doubly disenchanted by the Communism practiced by East Germany under the Russian totalitarian leadership, Hannelore feels that she has found an ideology she can live with in the MRA concept.

"MY FEELINGS have changed completely since I came to MRA," she said. Moreover, she added, she has been able to gauge analytically the hold that both Fascism and Communism exert. Both ideologies have proved strong because they had an ideal. But both have had a similar weakness in that the ideal was based on negative attitudes.

"In MRA," she said, "the ideal is positive."

1,100 Attend Asian Musical For MRA Cause

A crowd in excess of 1,100 persons jammed the Palm Springs High School Auditorium last night to view the first of three presentations by Moral Re-Armament—an all-Asian musical called "Turning Of The Tide."

Featuring prominent Asian citizens in its cast, the two-hour production featured music of the Far East.

A special preliminary was the presentation of a song titled "Palm Springs" by a group of Philippines students who accompanied themselves.

Warren Slaughter, president of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, greeted the opening night audience and issued a warm welcome to the visiting performers. The greeting was accepted with thanks by Rajomahon Ghandi, grandson of the famed Indian leader, on behalf of the MRA group.

Rose Float Made Money, Treasurer Tells Directors

Directors of the Float Association that this year entered Palm Springs' first float in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena had good news this week.

Meeting to hear final reports on the project which was under way for a year and a half, directors learned from treasurer James Schlect that after all float expenses have been paid, a surplus of $1,818.22 will exist which will go into a savings account in the Float Association's name.

A HUGE COLOR print of the Palm Springs float, which won second place in its class, was on display at the meeting and there were congratulatory messages from throughout the country.

Summing it up, Float Association President Mrs. Theresa Press, who spark-plugged the project, said that it had been "completed successfully." Directors too expressed pride in the float and satisfaction at the amount of publicity it brought Palm Springs. The float appeared before television cameras eight minutes when a float ahead of it broke down.

LETTERS SUMMING up this year's achievement and asking advice and the possibility of assistance for a 1960 float are to be sent to the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce and the Palm Springs Real Estate Board, which supported this year's project.

Thanking the members of her board of directors, Mrs. Press also expressed appreciation to The Desert Sun for its all-out support of the float and to the radio stations and other press media. She also paid tribute to the Real Estate Board and the Chamber of Commerce.

'Amiability' Gone From Summit Meet; Berlin Crisis Worse

KIEV, USSR — (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan held a final negotiating session with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in Moscow today and then flew to Kiev. There was no sign of agreement, and hopes for solution of the Berlin crisis sagged badly.

British sources said that for all practical purposes the Anglo-Soviet summit talks were finished, although there will be a final taken session Monday to draft a summarizing communiqué.

"THE AMIABILITY of the first few days has disappeared," one Western official stated.

Macmillan warned Khrushchev Wednesday night that any Soviet move in Berlin against the West "could only lead to a dangerous situation."

There was no sign Russia would budge from its demands that the West give up its occupation rights in Berlin and accept Communist East German control of the route to and from the city.

MACMILLAN AND Khrushchev met across the Kremlin conference table this morning without apparent result.

After the session, Macmillan flew to this capital of the Ukraine Republic to begin the tourist phase of his Soviet visit.

Khrushchev had been scheduled to accompany him but at the last minute the Russian leader withdrew. He told Macmillan he was having trouble with his teeth.

KHRUSHCHEV THEN conferred in Moscow with a ministerial delegation from the Iraq Republic while Macmillan flew to Kiev.

At Kiev Airport, Macmillan issued one more call for East-West accord to prevent war.

"Let us negotiate and have peace," he told welcoming Ukrainian officials led by the republic's premier, Peter Kalchenko.

THAT WAS THE theme of Macmillan's talks Wednesday night when he replied to Khrushchev on the Soviet Premier's blistering rejection Tuesday of western proposals on Berlin, Germany, disarmament and European security.

Khrushchev, in the speech, rejected the Western call for an East-West foreign ministers conference.

To all outward appearances, the East-West stalemate was about where it stood when Macmillan flew to Moscow last Saturday.

KILLED INSTANTLY when he apparently darted into the path of an auto on Highway 99 near Indio yesterday was eight-year-old Robert Dean Vaughn, of Thermal, whose body lies huddled beneath a blanket near the right rear fender of the car. Highway Patrol officers said the youngster darted across the highway in front of an auto driven by Samuel Dewey Shelton, 59, of Los Angeles, a few miles south of Indio. Shelton braked and swerved his car across the highway but was unable to stop in time, officers said. The driver was not held. A coroner's inquest is scheduled for 2 p. m., Friday, at the FitzHenry Funeral Home in Indio. (Willis Photo)

At Playhouse

Theater-in-the-Round Gets Best Results With 'Bus Stop'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Gloria Dibble and Deborah Culver, two students from Bennington College in Vermont, who are spending a portion of their school year in curricular work study in Palm Springs, attended Tuesday's opening at the Palm Springs Playhouse. Miss Dibble, who studies drama at the Vermont college, furnished The Desert Sun with the following analysis.)

By GLORIA DIBBLE
Theater-in-the-round gets its best results in the current Palm Springs Playhouse season with

"Bus Stop" coming across to theatergoers as though William Inge had written it for the circular presentation.

Accused of failing to "live" on Broadway stages, "Bus Stop" comes quickly to life in the Playhouse effort.

Moreover, it adds luster to some already glowing dramatic reputations and manages to solve a few Playhouse workers who have failed to impress so far this season.

A SMOOTHLY proficient job by Pamela Britton highlights the performances for the evening with the young "old pro" managing to give the role of the singer all of the depth and perception it merits. Thayer Roberts, returned to the Playhouse lineup after a one-week absence, turned in his usual solid performance as the former college professor. This reviewer feels, unlike the regular analyst, that Robert's work sometimes borders on the overdone. In "Bus Stop," however, his effort provided consistent contrast — the script calls for it — to other characterizations.

IMPRESSIVE ALSO was Richard Tretter, a newcomer to the Playhouse, who simply exudes energy and seemed physiologically fitted for the role of a young cowpoke.

Sue McDonald vindicated herself for her two previous efforts at the Playhouse with a wonderful interpretation of the "girl off the farm. Her accent isn't believable, but it can be overlooked in the face of the large-scale acting job she does.

Phyllis Flax and Lincoln Demman come across well with Miss Flax one of the better but least heralded mainstays of the Playhouse acting lineup.

On an orthodox stage, "Bus Stop" might have had its troubles. But it's a joy "in-the-round."

NEW OWNERS OF a five-unit hotel featuring a huge pool are Mr. and Mrs. Earle S. Gourlay, of Vancouver, B. C., shown here talking over arrangements of the purchase with William Russell (Bud) Wehe, Village realtor. Wehe handled both the purchase of the hotel and a home for the Gourlays, at 1510 Calle Palo Pardo, with the transaction topping the $60,000 mark. Wehe is associated with the Mildred E. Redlands Bowl Young Artists Auditions Set

April 1 has been set as the deadline for filing applications for the eighth annual Redlands Bowl Young Artists Auditions to select the finest young musicians in San Bernardino, Riverside Counties and the Pomona-Claremont sections of Los Angeles County. Winners will not only receive cash prizes, but will be given an appearance at the pre-season concert of the 36th annual Redlands Bowl Summer Festival June 3. Judges will select winners from two divisions: Junior (15 to 18) and senior (19 to 25) in the fields of voice, piano and orchestral instruments.

Auditions will take place Saturday, April 11, at Watchorn Hall, University of Redlands. Requests for applications should be mailed to Miss Florence M. Wiese, 208 West Colton Avenue, Redlands, or to Mrs. Leo J. Daun, 1329 North Chrysler Avenue, Montone.

Of the 28 winners since auditions were started by the Redlands Community Music Association in 1952, several have attained national fame, according to Mrs. George Stewart Mullen, Redlands, Bowl Founder-President.

ENERGETIC ESTELLE SLOAN, called America's most dynamic dancing star, is currently whizzing through a solo parade of terpsichorean gymnastics nightly on the Chi Chi Starlite Stage. Estelle, long a Palm Springs favorite, is the shapelier part of a lengthy Starlite entertainment bill that features Singer Dennis Day, backed by Bill Alexander's Orchestra.

County Supervisors File Report on 'Indio Housing'

In a report on substandard housing and shacks on the Cabazon Indian Reservation just east of the City of Indio, north of the railroad tracks, Building Director C. G. Bixel told the Board of Supervisors this week that the Department of Indian Affairs is very cooperative and he believes that with its assistance the nuisance as a whole can, and will be controlled. "If the proper approach is not used," he declared, "an unpleasant situation could be created."

Bixel said one portion of the area said to be inhabited by hoboes is in escrow and the purchaser has promised to clean it up as soon as he receives title. Another portion is in probate, and Bixel advised against making any effort to remedy the situation there until after it has cleared the courts.

The Indio city council demanded last week that immediate action be taken by the supervisors to eliminate what they termed "insanitary and dangerous conditions" in the Cabazon reservation area.

BOY ACQUIRES CIGARETTE HABIT AT AGE OF TWO

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Larry Smith has the cigarette habit. As smokers go, Larry is fairly moderate. He only needs five cigarettes a day to keep him happy. But Larry is just 2 years old.

His mother, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, says she doesn't know what to do with her puffing toddler. "It's so bad now that if I or the baby sitter don't light his cigarette, he goes into a tantrum, screaming and crying and all that," she said.

Mrs. Smith, a divorcee and waitress, said she plans to follow police advice to take Larry to a doctor. But she's not sure how much good it will do.

State Lobbyists Termed 'Honest'

California's lobbyists—who have actually outnumbered the state's legislators in recent years — yesterday were pictured as "honest and intelligent" by Assemblyman Lee Backstrand.

The 71st District Assemblyman voiced his opinion in reply to what he called "recent newspaper stories attacking certain lobbyists."

BACKSTRAND SAID that the lobbyists are the only way legislators have of getting "the facts about all sides of every issue."

"Despite the fact that lobbying has been controlled by State law for the past ten years, and . . . everyone engaging in it for pay must register as a 'legislative advocate,' some people still feel that it is bad and ought to be prohibited," he said.

HE SAID THE lobbyists had become "an integral and necessary part of the legislative process, not only at the State level, but at every level of government."

Backstrand said that even with the lobbyists around to make decisions easier, the State legislature had still found it necessary to increase expenditures for services of the legislative counsel, analyst and auditor and have also "enlarged the scope" of interim study committees.

"NONE OF THESE have apparently lessened the value to us of advocates (lobbyists) who know the problems of their clients, and can present them factually and clearly," Backstrand said.

He said that "more equitable" legislation resulted from "cooperation" between lobbyists and legislators.

Wild Flowers Are Popular In Desert; Check Species

By LYLE SMITH
By nothing less than witchcraft could anyone tell what wild flowers and how many there will be this year on the desert. For a long time there has not been a flower year like that of last year, with enormous variety and unbelievable quantity.

This we do know: there will be flowers. For there are two major aspects of desert life to guarantee the perpetuity of species. ONE IS THE fantastic viability of seeds, their ability to sustain life. For they may lie dormant in the earth or on the sands for many years until the rain falls at the precise moment and in the precise quantity to start them on the magic cycle of growth.

An amaranth found in a dry cave in Georgia which had been stored about a thousand years, germinated and grew. Such stubborn persistence of life is not peculiar to desert areas, but is probably more likely to exist in a land like ours where plants are otherwise adapted to extreme weather conditions. Another is the adaptation by which in a lean year a plant normally richly covered with bloom puts forth a single, undersized flower, just enough to scatter its seed for a better spring.

LAST YEAR BECAUSE the new Desert Museum building was still without its roof, Charles Cave botanized over the desert and kept fresh specimens of everything he could find in test tubes on a table in the library. This year, with his great help a continuous display of at least the most commonly seen flowers will be displayed and identified in the lobby of the museum, next door to the library.

It has already begun, since now the creosote is blooming, the verbena is flourishing in special places where it has somehow received a little extra fertilizer and water, and so with the encelia. The "bee sage" or "desert lavender" and the chuparosa, beloved of hummingbirds, are flourishing in the canyons. Already, because of the warm rains the green trunked, green limbed Palo Verde is beginning to burst into its brilliant, butter yellow bloom down by the Salton Sea, and so is the ocotilla which blooms after every rain, and we have had a rain.

WHEN YOU ARE curious about what you see, try the Desert Museum for identification. And if your flower isn't on the table ask Dr. C. E. Smith.

Or you can try some identification on your own. We keep many flower books in the Welwood Murray Memorial Library.

The very best, if you have had some experience, or a slight background in botany, is DESERT WILD FLOWERS by the topmost authority on the Colorado Desert, Dr. Edmund C. Jaeger. It contains nearly everything to be found, each separate plant is most carefully drawn and described, but there is no color. Some enthusiasts buy the book and add their own watercolor.

PERHAPS EASIER to use, though not so complete is FLOWERS OF THE SOUTHWEST DESERT, by Natt N. Dodge. This includes a much larger area and only the most common plants but uses a system much easier for the novice: flowers are arranged by the color of their petals. By description only, there are no color plates.

An article from a 1927 NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC by Edith S. Clements illustrated in color has been so successful that it is separately bound and can be checked out of the library like a book. This was later expanded into a book with splendid color plates called FLOWERS OF THE COAST AND SIERRA which we have. And there are many others, enough to keep you all content.

Disability Outlook
NEW YORK — (UPI) — Your chances of being disabled for three months before you're 65 are greater than of dying before that retirement age.

A study by Johnson — Higgins, insurance brokers and consultants showed that nearly one-third of all individuals reaching 35 will be disabled for at least three months before they reach 65, and 10 per cent or more of these will be permanently disabled.

Proposed Park, Recreation Projects to Be Studied

A plan for park and recreational development in the area between the San Jacinto mountains on the west and the Colorado River on the east, was presented to the Board of Supervisors this week by the Desert Protective Council and referred to Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen for study.

The plan calls for development in eleven areas, namely, the San Jacinto - Santa Rosa Wildlife Sanctuary, Falls Creek Canyon (tributary of Snow Creek Canyon), Pushawalla Canyon in the Indio hills, Wiley's Well in the Chuckawallas, Cat Creek in the Santa Rosa foothills, Dos Palmas Spring in the Santa Rosas, Hidden Palms Canyon Oasis, Bear Creek Oasis, Dos Palmas on the Old Bradshaw Trail to La Paz, Corn Springs in the Chuckawallas, and Chuckawalla Spring in the Chuckawalla mountains.

"This is a long range program," the Council stated, "and there is no immediate need at this time for such an extensive program of park and recreational development as proposed, but population fore-

Three Elections Called Off

With no more than one candidate for each directorship, elections for directors in three districts have been called off and the nominees were appointed this week by the Board of Supervisors.

For the East Blythe County Water District three directors, J. K. Howie, Robert L. Sinnock and William T. Wilkins were reappointed.

three districts will expire March 26, 1963.

Old Rock Is Dead

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Is Knute Rockne the President of the United States?" asked the Returning Traveler, who had been out of the country for some thirty years. "Otherwise what's the idea of using our Second Team here in the Big Game?"

The late Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, standardized the tactic of starting the Second Team to wear down the opposition. Later on, the first stringers would apply the crusher. But why did the Returning Traveler . . . ?

"WELL, I SEE where Secretary of Defense McElroy is conceding the opposition a 3 to 1 superiority in missile production," said the Returning Traveler. "Maybe he thinks it's still early in the game, but certainly the great industrial potential of the USA can do better than that."

Yes, the figures are that the nation's industrial establishment is running at around 80 per cent of capacity, and something like five million workers aren't working.

"AND I SEE WHERE Secretary of Agriculture Benson says farm production has climbed to a new peak — 11 per cent above all former crop harvests and on the smallest planted acreage in 40 years," resumed the Returning Traveler.

"If the USA is putting all that energy and skill into turning out food, it must be because we don't need missiles, planes, tanks, bombs, rifles, submarines and all those other weapons in short supply. The First Team is on the bench raising tobacco to give us cancer and peanuts to eat in the hall park, while the Second Team is getting its ears pinned back by the boys from Moscow Tech. Still, it must be very early in the game or Old Rock . . ."

THE RETURNING Traveler had better look at the calendar. It's true that we have a weapons shortage during an extremely tense period of history — when peace and survival depend upon military preparedness. We do have some $9.1 billion worth of crops in the Commodity Credit Corporation bins, costing over $1 billion a fiscal year in storage, transportation and interest on loans. But we can't seem to afford gunpowder. Funny thing, too — the President of the USA is not a former football coach. He's a former five-star general, a Supreme Commander. Old Rock is dead.

"There must be some mistake," said the Returning Traveler. "I have just checked with the Automobile Manufacturing Association on their estimated production for 1959. Now, don't tell me that a country which expects to put out 3.5 million pleasure cars and 1 million trucks and busses could probably be outproduced in war goods at a time of danger."

STRANGE AS IT seems, he was told, the facts are as he stated. There never was less need for food and civilian vehicles, or more need for military goods. Yet we are turning out the secondary products and running short on the primary ones. The Second Team strategy might make sense, except for one thing. It isn't early in the Big Game. It's getting very late. "But that's impossible," said the Returning Traveler. "At this moment the Secretary of State, at 71, is painfully ill in the hospital, while his deputy is crippled with arthritis. You can't tell me that these injured players would be left in the game at any crucial stage. If things are as bad as you say, why doesn't the coach get the First Team off the bench? Aren't there any good substitutes for the Secretary of State?"

WELL, THE BEST substitute would be Richard Nixon. If he resigned the Vice Presidency for another office, he wouldn't be the first man in history to do so. Calhoun did it in 1832 to become Senator and to lead the Nullification fight. There wouldn't be anything unprecedented about a vacancy in the Vice Presidency. We've had such a vacancy for every President who died in office. Nixon is by far the best qualified Republican to be Secretary of State, and . . .

"Don't talk about Republicans or Democrats at this stage of the game," said the Returning Traveler. "If things are in a bad way, let's get the First Team in there, regardless of politics. What's the idea of using second string products and worn-out players any longer? Are we trying to win the Big Game—or don't we care?"

The Returning Traveler had a good questions there. — Holmes Alexander

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

A peek in the future is not with elation. Comes Daylight Savings And Easter vacation.

Must be in a pessimistic mood. During this glorious weather — the greatest in the year, two thoughts obtrude.

FIRST, Easter falls on March 29 this year. Just about as early as it can come under the calendar set up by the Church in the Nicene Creed. Under it, Easter cannot be earlier than March 22 or later than April 25.

For those diehards who persist in the theory that the so-called season here ends with Easter — an idea abandoned generally some years ago — there is consolation. Next year Easter will be late—April 17.

BUT THAT'S not what I started to say. With Easter coming within a week of its earliest possible date, so will the influx of youngsters celebrating Easter vacation.

They'll be out in force again and Chief of Police Gus Kettmann and his boys are already writing up a list of rules designed to keep them in line.

And although it is still a month away, others are beginning to batten down the hatches, preparing for the storm.

THE OTHER SAD thought is that on April 26, the last Sunday in that month, early risers will be getting up in the dark again.

That's when they monkey with the clock and set it ahead an hour. Maybe I'm just a natural worrier, looking for trouble. That's two months away.

IN A WAY, I am happy that the Date Festival at Indio has run its course.

It was a great show even if it did bring a few rain squalls. But with its passing, passes a daily argument here in The Sun office.

How do you spell "Scheherazade?"

SAID A YOUNG squirt to an old-timer the other day:

"I wish you old dodos would quit talking about the 'good old days.' From what I hear and read, these days are a lot better."

"Yeah?" said the oldtimer. "These are good days, to be sure, and they'll be the 'good old days' you'll be boring people by talking about 21 years from now."

SINCE I STARTED out in a grouchy vein, might as well finish that way.

I wish the dry cleaners and laundries would find another way to identify suits and indicate the day of delivery.

Now most of them use bits of square cloth stamped with symbols and then staple them on to the suits.

It's not so bad with coats. But with trousers and slacks! Why do they have to be where they foul up your zipper?

When you're dressing in a hurry, too.

People always find a way, said the man on Sunset the other day. When it was found impossible to open a coach window, they air-conditioned the train.

Postcard

These are the in-between days in New York. Not quite the end of winter, not quite the beginning of spring.

"I don't really know what to do with Stonehenge," said the lady in front of my hotel. "He simply can't stand Florida."

STONEHENGE, IT turned out, is a bored-looking poodle. Like other dogs in the Elegant Eighties East, he wears a simple silver collar and a short jacket. He looks at the passing traffic through half-closed eyes. A good deal like a banker surveying the usual menu at the University Club.

His jacket is plaid. Authentic Stuart Hunting tartan. He is a dog with money.

WE ARE STAYING at the posh Stanhope Hotel, Fifth avenue at 81st street. The doorman knew me by name within half an hour after I registered.

He wears a plum-colored topcoat with a flash of red waistcoat beneath.

This is not a gaudy neighborhood. But between the plaid pack-dogs and the red-breasted doormen, we have our moments of color.

THIS IS AN aristocratic neighborhood. Across from the gray, bare, wintered trees of Central Park. Across from the imposing Metropolitan Museum of Art.

If we wish to refresh our culture, we can walk across the street and look at the high class mummies in the Egyptian section.

"Stonehenge," said the lady, "really prefers New York."

Stonehenge sat quietly at the end of his morocco leash. He nodded briefly to a passing pair of dachshunds and snubbed a young cocker.

DOWN AT 493 First avenue, we have a guest house for dogs who prefer New York. Who cannot stand Florida.

It is called the Courtyard. It is run by Mr. Henry J. Lindner Jr. of New Orleans — possibly the first man to come to New York and realize a smart dog's feelings in such matters.

"City dogs," said Mr. Lindner.

"prefer to walk on a leash. They prefer to have someone walk with them. Some like to walk on grass, whereas others would rather walk on a terrace."

"We try to determine their desires and provide what they wish."

FOR RICH ANIMALS like Stonehenge, Lindner provides a city home while the rest of the family goes to Miami.

Reservations are required, naturally. (Just as they are at my hotel. We must keep up the barriers.)

A dog lodging with Lindner—"we don't like to call it a boarding house"—are assured of quality company.

ELIZABETH ARDEN'S German Shepherd, King, is a regular visitor.

So is Dorothy Parker's miniature poodle, Cliche. The register has names of most of the elite of New York City dogs. And a dog can simply drop in—with proper credentials. Just drop in, have a steam bath and freshen up for the evening. Or simply lunch on a low-calorie lean beef dish, so popular that Lindner is thinking of packing it for the retail market.

THE UPPER EAST Side dog, being an apartment hotel animal, is generally small. Just big enough to fit under the TV set.

They are walked in the brisk mornings by uniformed hotel help. The more afflicted dogs walking the sidewalks along the apartment houses. A few venturesome beasts heel-and-toeing it across the street in Central Park.

They all wear jackets in this chill weather. But they are rather plain in the way of collars.

"I NEVER LET Stonehenge wear his ruby collar until after six in the evening," said the lady. "Only a thin silver chain during the day."

Stonehenge lifted one eyelid and looked at me. When he saw I had neither a plum-colored topcoat nor red waistcoat, he dropped it again and his lip came up in a genteel sneer.

"Under capitalist system is much trouble finding sinner! . . . Under communal system only problem is finding baby! . . ."

EARL WILSON:

How Sinatra Learns His Songs

NEW YORK — "When I sing my own songs at home," exclaimed Composer Sammy Cahn in great surprise, "my kids stuff their fingers in their ears. They bury their heads in pillows!"

"They should," snapped Sammy's pal, Leo Durocher. "I say to them, 'You can't stand me, but Frank Sinatra can stand me. Why, that's how Frank learns his songs — listening to me sing them.'"

"The hard way," barked Sammy's pal, Toots Shor.

"Listen, Frank's the biggest star out there," shot back Sammy.

"That's what he told me," flipped Durocher. "Actually, this rough talk was a mark for real affection for Sammy, who, along with Jimmy Van Heusen writes many songs for Sinatra, Bing Crosby and other stars."

A peppery, owl-looking little man who darts around Broadway in Hollywood sports clothes even in winter, Sammy's currently excited about "To Love and Be Loved," which Sinatra sings in "Some Came Running," and now is in the Oscar running.

"I've been writing for Frank for 18 years and he's never turned down one of my songs," said Sammy, hustling along the street with me the other day. "Frank said 'Some day we're gonna find a picture and put that song in it.' Suddenly he said, 'This is the picture!'"

"He's workin' like a dedicated disc jockey. It was Sinatra who booked me on the Perry Como show!"

"How is it to work with Van Heusen?" I asked.

"The greatest!" replied Sammy. "Except sometimes I detect a lack of enthusiasm in one of my songs which he conveys by walking out of the room or leaving town."

"He is also too hospitable in Palm Springs living there next to Bing Crosby."

"When anybody comes to town, Jimmy says 'You gotta stay with me!'"

"Pretty soon he's got his house filled up. He says 'I'll stay at Sinatra's house! Sinatra's already invited so many people, Jimmy's got to go to a motel. I asked him once why he didn't go to Bing's house next door.'"

"He said, 'I did but his liquor cabinet was locked.'"

Phil Silvers told me not to get Sammy wrong.

"In 1939, when I did 'Yodel Boy' on B'way, I was so terrified, I went out and did a burlesque show before going on stage to get confidence. Sammy was so worried about me that he tried many ways to cheer me up."

"Came the big moment — my entrance — Sammy was there cheering me on — I was calm and cool — and Sammy fainted."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Peter Lind Hayes says his " feud " with Jack Paar's "almost" over. There'll be only one more reference: that one's on a taped show . . . Ann Miller and husband Bill Moss are disproving the split rumors by taking off via TWA with Conrad Hilton's 65 guests bound for the Cairo Nile Hilton opening . . . Comedian Al Bernie and singer Joanne Florio canceled wedding plans. He said marriage now would spoil the bachelor sketch he does in his act.

Jason Robards, Jr., is peeved about rumors linking him and Kim Novak. (Kim also denies it) . . . The Barbara Rush-Warren Cowan wedding prophesies are heard again. ("They bought a house," L.A. reports) . . . George Raft may become host at the Riviera, due to reopen on B'way.

Judy Holliday and Jerry Mulligan dated at the Left Bank; she brought her mother, he brought his saxophone . . . Cliff ("Gidget") Robertson turned down a TV western series, explaining: "Enough is too much!" . . . Producer George Abbott, 69, alternated dancing with three young partners at the Chateau Madrid.

WISH I'D SAID THAT:

Why is it that the Late Late Show features such early, early movies? — Rex Mosley, Quote.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

'Father Bing'

HOLLYWOOD — I interviewed "Father" Bing Crosby on the set of "Say One for Me," in which he's playing a "Going My Way" type priest again at 20th-Fox.

"Just call me ol' dad," he said, jibbing his Roman collar back-to-front (or is it front-to-back?) for our gab session.

"And lemme tell ya something," he continued — "I think ol' dad's got a pretty good line-up for his March 2 spec on ABC-TV. Lindsay and Gary are goin' great guns with their movie careers so I'm having the twins—Dennis and Phillip—guest on my show for some Castor-and-Pollux-type patter. And with Jo Stafford and Jim Garner set for it, too, and Nelson Riddle rippin' off some of his Sinatra-like rhythms for ol' dad, could we've just about got it made. Leastwise, let's hope so."

I ASKED BING when little Tex, born last August, will make his debut. "When he can say something more than 'mama,'" grinned The Groaner. Saying which he switched his clerical collar back to its correct position and moved back in front of the cameras for some more emoting.

Gary Crosby, working in "Holiday for Lovers" on the sound stage next door to his dad's, was having trouble with a line of dialogue when I arrived on the set. One word was still stumping him, after 10 "takes." "Roll 'em!" bellowed director Frank Tashlin. "Roll 'em my eye," groaned Gary. "Not till I learn how to pronounce this word — hey, Frank, how come my dad's dialogue-writers never give him words like 'meteorological' to say — wow, man, let's roll 'em—I just said it!"

LESLEE CARON, star of "Gigi" (and remember I told you this is the picture most likely to bag the best-movie of the year Oscar!), goes all out French again after she finishes French "The Man Who Understood Women" opposite Henry Fonda. Leslie lams right out for London to co-star with Peter Finch in "For Each Other."

British film is based on a Jean Jacques Bernard play about a made-for-each-other lovers who aren't lovers at all! Bernard portrays them as the perfect love match of all time—born at the same time, never meeting during their lifetime, living their lives dying without ever having met. Leslie wept as she told me the plot but I'll have to see this one before I believe it!

DEBBIE REYNOLDS won custody but who'll take care of little Todd and Carrie Fisher while she's shooting "It Started With a Kiss" opposite Glenn Ford in Spain? "The same two nice people who babysat me," Debbie told me. "My parents."

I've been hypnotized by magnificent Maggie Leighton (brilliant in a recent Playhouse 90 and even more so as William Faulkner's "Caddy" in Fox's "The Sound and the Fury") ever since I saw her upsetting Noel Coward's apple cart in London in 1954, when the two co-starred in "The Apple Cart." But glamorous as she is onstage and screen, the gal's been running around Hollywood dressed like a Beatnik and if somebody doesn't tell her to quit looking like a three-way train wreck I'm gonna get myself de-hypnotized!

CHANNEL CHATTER — Playwright Steve Fisher is flagging comedians Dan Rowan and Dick Martin to co-star in their first Broadway show, an inside-TV item called "Giveaway."

Anna Maria Alberghetti, combining business with pleasure, will star at the London Palladium this spring while honeymooning there with Buddy Bregman.

Obese Bob Middleton is the top contender for the title role in Screen Gems' answer to MGM-TV's Thin Man series, The Fat Man. They'll film one 60-minute show a week and if Bob can stay fat on those fast shooting schedules they'll have to start a new Emmy category — for endurance!

CHIEF MILAN'S medico put him on a diet, and that means no more of Milan's heavy Italian cooking down the Milani hatch.

Heretofore Tverboten by the censors, the subject of the March 29 Playhouse 90 will be unwed motherhood. Producer Herb Brodsky says, "The script will not sanction illegitimacy so I don't believe we'll shock anybody. The show certainly won't be obscene." All of which remains to be obscene.

HANS CONRIED will bow out of his Broadway hit, "Tall Story," for the old Clifton Webb in the Fox-TV version of "Mr. Belvedere" . . . Hal Wallis, incidentally, has bought "Tall Story" (it's a comedy about a tall basketball player) and I hear he's got tall Tony Perkins for the lead . . . Wallis also latched onto "Visit to a Small Planet" but it isn't for Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, as originally planned — it's for Alec Guinness and either Danny Kaye or Jerry Lewis.

Wally (Mr. Peepers) Cox is riding thatway this week with Ward Bond and Bob Horton, filming his 3rd western, a Wag-on Train segment titled "The Vincent Eagleworth Story."

It's Dinah-versus-Dino. In this corner, Miss Shor excused herself from appearing on Martin's March 19 spec, on the grounds that she's "too busy," and word's around that Dean is sore about it and won't keep his promise to do one of her April shows. Besides, Donald O'Connor (and maybe the Mary Kaye Trio) will sub for Dinah.

Quotes from the News

SAN JUAN, P. R. (UPI)—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, proposing a shorter work week:

"We have got to turn our attention directly toward a shorter work week. Now is the time."

CHERRY POINT, N. C.—Acting Cpl. Matthew C. McKee, who led Marine recruits on a tragic "death march" in 1956, on his imminent honorable discharge:

"I hate to leave the Corps. I don't have any definite plans for the future."

ST. LOUIS — Assistant elephant trainer Joe Stephens, on the zookeepers strike at the St. Louis Zoo before the walkout ended:

"If I find out my elephants aren't being taken care of, I'll be back there."

FLORENCE, Italy — The National Association of Skin Divers, in seeking its submarine, the Nautilus, which disappeared last month:

"There's going to be one heck of a mess if our Nautilus pops up in the middle of the Sixth Fleet."

WICHITA, Kan. — Mrs. Truett Hyies, on watching her home burn to the ground after neighbors refused to let her use the telephone to call firemen:

"I tried to use the telephone three minutes, but the line was in use and they didn't believe that my house was on fire."

WICHITA FALLS, Tex.—Police Chief C. C. Daniel, on the story of a 17-year-old unwed mother who told of live trysts with nine Wichita Falls policemen over a two-year period:

"I'd hate to see these men picked on, but if what the girl says is true, I won't try to protect them. It's a black day for our police force."

Thumbs Insured

LONDON (UPI)—The Cambridge University tiddlywinks team, which meets Oxford today, has been insured by Lloyds for $700 a thumb.

Total Loss

CHICAGO (UPI)—The New Bedford, Mass., Tech basketball team today was reconsidering the value of road trips.

Since Monday, they have lost to Illinois Tech, lost to the University of Chicago, and lost their uniforms, gym shoes and warm-up togs to a thief.

Repels Mothers

EASTBORNE, England (UPI)—Farmer Lewis Pyle dipped the tails of new lambs in a mixture guaranteed to swell so badly no fox would go near them.

But he complained Wednesday that the odor was so strong the mothers wouldn't go near them either.

Turnabout Is . . .

CLINTON, Tenn. (UPI)—Trooper Fred Brown arrested motorist Oliver H. Anderson for speeding and drove him to jail to lodge the complaint.

Anderson charged the trooper with exceeding the speed limit on the trip to jail.

So far, the charge against Anderson has been dropped. Brown's case is still pending.

Cancelled Out

LONDON (UPI)—A burglar broke into the Holloway branch of the Westminster Bank Wednesday night—and stole 14 cents worth of stamps.

Bloody Cheap

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The following advertisement appeared in Monday's editions of the newspaper "Wolfsburger Nachrichten":

"Television set, slightly damaged by blow of the fist, to sell cheap."

What's in a Name

CHICAGO (UPI)—The 101a

Cheer Club is celebrating its eighth year remembering the forgotten in hospitals and institutions, but it doesn't have to worry about remembering what its name stands for.

Mrs. Malva Andre, founder of the club, says the name 101a "doesn't stand for anything."

"It's just a pretty name we thought of," she said

Suspect Roosters

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany (UPI)—Thieves who raided a hen house near here left five overage hens for six young, tender chickens they stole, police reported today.

Class Destroyer

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (UPI)—Soldier Ernie Glass was fined $15 Monday for mixing the salt and sugar in a restaurant.

He was charged with destroying private property.

Derby for Ladies

CHICAGO (UPI)—The derby is making a double-barreled comeback.

Bernard L. Salesky, president of a hat firm, said Monday his company is developing a "he-she derby for the ladies."

Take Home Work

WARSAW (UPI)—Authorities have caught up with some railroad workers who have been taking home their work.

They arrested 11 railroad employees who allegedly carted off three miles of track, which they sold to the local state-owned scrap enterprise.

No Cowboy Mood

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Mrs. Earl Rhodes, 65, who grabbed a gun and chased two would-be robbers from her store Wednesday told police they were wearing western-style bandanas as masks.

"I just wasn't in the mood to play cowboy," she said.

Sells Car—Likes Drink

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Convicted of drunken driving, Mark A. Kollock told Judge H. P. Pollard he was going to sell his car because "it always gets me into trouble."

"Why not quit drinking instead," the judge asked.

"I don't guess I could do that," Kollock replied.

Snyder vs. Snyder

DENVER (UPI)—It was Wesley Snyder vs. Wesley Snyder Thursday in Municipal Court.

Wesley E. Snyder of Lakewood, Colo., the defendant, was fined $31 for his involvement in a traffic accident with Wesley F. Snyder of Littleton, Colo., the complainant.

THE ANCIENT RITUAL of lighting the first fire in a new home, was duplicated by Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hutcheson, new owners of the first house to be sold in "Desert Gardens." Mr. Hutcheson is sales manager at Simms Buick-Pontiac in Palm Springs. Looking on is Hal Kapp, of Desert Property Consultants, exclusive sales agents for the new Palm Desert development.

PRESIDENTS AND THEIR WIVES chat together at the joint dinner meeting of the Cathedral City Rotary and Lions clubs at Desert Air Hotel. Shown are Mr. and Mrs. William Hendrickson (Lions) and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hicks (Rotary). Approximately 100 were present, with proceeds going to Cathedral City Boy Scout Troop 81. "White elephants" were auctioned by Lou Gauthier and Ivan Sharp, raising $100. The Marta Scott Dancers presented Hawaiian numbers, and Hank Gogerty presented his well known "Cock-eyed Major" routine. (Wilson Ellis Photo)

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adressi over the weekend were their former neighbors in Ojai, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Blum, and their twin daughters, Barbara and Monica, who now make their home in Santa Cruz. The Blums are also close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Drewery.

Mrs. Adressi's aunt, Mrs. John Austin, and friends from Los Angeles stopped to see them on their way to the Date Festival Saturday.

At Kelley Cottages are Mr. and Mrs. George Baur of Los Angeles, here for a few weeks, and Mrs. V. W. Blythe, here from their home in Long Beach for a month or more, and Mrs. Lucian Simon of Olympia, Wash., down for a few weeks, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Brown, who arrived Monday for a desert vacation from their home in Sacramento. Among weekend guests were Dr. James Van Soest, Mr. T. Roberts and Dr. and Mrs. James Van Kirk of San Pedro.

Over the weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schwartz had as their houseguests her nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dering, and children, Patty and Craig, who make their home in Manhattan Beach. The Derings brought their boat and on Sunday they and the Schwartzs spent the day cruising the Salton Sea.

Recent weekend houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harding, of Cathedral Automatic Laundry, were their daughter, Maurine, and friends, Dean Gardner, Betty Packard, Danny Wilson and Deane Blacklock and daughter Marcia, all from Los Angeles. This week the Hardings close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Echer of Sherman Oaks are visiting with them while at Palm Valley Trailer Village.

Drew and Virginia Poorbaugh and their one-year-old son Jeff, of San Bernardino, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brauer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jacobin and their young son, Joey, who had been visiting relatives in Tennessee and in Louisiana and who also enjoyed the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, arrived Saturday en route to their home in Hamilton, Wash., to visit with his uncle, Lou Jacobin, at his home on G Street. Lou, who is publisher of Guide To Alaska, had to spend Monday and Tuesday in Los Angeles on business.

Recent weekend houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Levan Saeger were Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Lawrence of Rialto, who accompanied the Saegers to the Hawaiian Islands last fall. Joining them for dinner at Shadow Mountain Club were Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott, of Palm Springs.

Legality of Fair Contract Is Questioned

Action was delayed this week by the Board of Supervisors for yet another week on the awarding of a contract for architectural services for the $320,000 fairgrounds construction project in Indio.

Phil Hussey was on hand to present a proposed contract on behalf of Walter D. Hessert, a Los Angeles registered structural engineer he said is associated with him and Jack Moore, in their Indio office. He said a standard AIA (American Institute of Architects) form had been used, the only change being the substitution of the word "engineer" in place of "architect."

ASSISTANT COUNTY Counsel James Angell had already submitted a report on a study of the legality of entering into a contract with the Indio organization expressing doubt as to the validity of such an agreement in view of a requirement in the Business and Professions Code that permits an engineer to offer his services through a partnership or firm only if such partnership or firm does not contain the name of any person not registered either as a professional engineer or as an architect.

Neither Hussey nor Moore are registered in either field.

ANGELL ADVISED the board against contracting with the Indio group unless its standing is satisfactorily clarified. He said also that more detail should be included, and listed numerous items which should be spelled out in a contract. The contract presented by Hussey Tuesday was turned over to Angell for study and report March 2.

The fair board recommended several weeks ago that a contract submitted by Herman O. Ruhau, Riverside architect, be approved, but Supervisor George Berkey complained that other architects had not been given any consideration. On his suggestion, action was delayed two weeks to give time for other architects to submit bid proposals.

The only offer submitted when the two weeks had elapsed came from the Indio group. The signature on the drawing they presented for the project was "Moore, Hussey & Hessert." Their signature to the offer they submitted at the time was "Moore, Hussey & Walter P. Hessert, Structural Engineer (Associate)."

Junior Women To Hear of Work Of Fiesta Club

CATHEDRAL CITY — Mrs. Roy D. Lay of Idyllwild, president of the Idyllwild Institute Fiesta Club, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Cathedral City Junior Women's Club Tuesday evening at 8 p.m., at the Town Hall in Cathedral City.

Mrs. Lay will narrate interesting color slides of the club's new lodge and will explain the one week program of parliamentary procedure and arts and crafts classes for organizational women scheduled this summer at the Idyllwild Institute Fiesta.

Representatives and all interested members of other women's organizations are invited to attend, according to president Mrs. Thomas Brindle.

New Rotary Directors Named

CATHEDRAL CITY — At the luncheon meeting of the Cathedral City Rotary Club at Laurie's Steak Ranch the following members were elected to the board of directors: Jim Ramsey, Bert Smith, Merrill Brown, Trenton Murphy and Sam Croce.

The more than 55 in attendance were entertained by Johnny Boyle, his guitar and songs.

Mrs. Deason Heads Campaign

CATHEDRAL CITY — Mrs. Howard Deason, president of the Cathedral City P-TA, has been appointed chairman of the 26th annual Easter Seal campaign for the Cathedral City area.

Sponsored by the Crippled Children's Society, the campaign will get under way Friday, Feb. 27, and continue through March 29.

'Adventures in Living' Was Started From Criticism of College Training

By GEORGE LAINE

When John Robert Clarke, then a lecturer on Shakespeare and literature at San Diego State College, went on record with a solid indictment of the educational fold-out extant on the school's campus back in 1954, he was promptly ousted from his post.

The fact that he had spoken his mind and given his own honest opinion seemed to matter little to the college authorities.

"WE CAN'T HAVE criticism," they told Clarke.

So Clarke, who was living off the La Jolla coastline aboard his 55-foot yacht, Panacea, started his own "university."

It took the form of a lecture series called "Adventures in Living," and in it Clarke launched the kind of format he had recommended for the school.

"We open with a lecture by myself that lasts about an hour. Then we break for coffee and return in about 15 or 20 minutes to a circle of chairs—we call it the 'Great Circle Discussion'—for an interchange of ideas and thoughts," he said.

NOW 42, THE globe-trotting philosopher and perennial student figures that Palm Springs is about ripe for the Clarke treatment.

"It depends a lot on how much people here value their right to express opinions," he said squinting out a cigarette with his left hand and reaching for a fresh one with his right.

The 1954 paper he wrote for San Diego's Point magazine wasn't as vicious as the administration at State College thought it was. Instead, Clarke explains, it was an attempt to pinpoint some of the things that precluded learning in the massive institution and to recommend means of altering the situation. Samples:

"IN THE STATE College library (one of the best in this part of the country), is a beautiful reading room, usually jammed with students. Yet I could never help feeling that in that room it would be a heresy to commit silence." (Within 30 days of publication of the article, a deluge of "Silence" signs were posted in the reading room.)

"Less than half my students could spell and almost none of them had any training in critical inquiry. They were not trained as judges, but as servants who had no been encouraged in the privilege (and in a democracy, the duty) of dissent." (Unfortunately, Clarke says, there has been no apparent remedy for that situation.)

JOHN ROBERT CLARKE, whose lecture-discussion series, "Adventures in Living," begin at 8 p.m., tonight, in Desert Inn is given billing as the "teacher" for the session but denies the title. "I'm a 'teacher'—not a 'teacher,'" he says. (Desert Sun Photo)

"THE 'OLD EDUCATIONAL aims are no longer appealing. Long ago, people were lured to college to acquire capital C culture and to this end men traveled afar to hang their raccoon coats in Harvard halls, while women did the same thing at Wellesley to prepare them for strenuous participation in competitive mink opera." (This, Clarke explains, still exists.)

Actually, the travelling philosopher argues, he should never have tried teaching at State. "I'm not a teacher at all," he sighed, downing the dregs of a fourth cup of coffee. "I'm a teacher."

"YOU'VE GOT TO reach people where they live with something as vital as life as they are." His "Adventures in Living" series here packs that vital life, Clarke feels. Included are inspections of Socrates and Boris Pasternak, inquiries on Jung and Alfred Schweitzer, discussions on the female IQ and Shakespeare's worth in our time. And lots of others.

In San Diego, his lecture series has a standing audience of about 150 who meet regularly at Balboa Park. Another series, newer in origin, at the Beverly Hills Hotel, has an audience of about 200 regulars. And there are a multitude of other, unplanned programs that Clarke does on a regular basis. How he will fare here when he opens the series at 8 p.m., Feb. 26, in the Desert Inn, is an enigma for the Stanford-Harvard-trained lecturer.

"I REALLY CAN'T say about that," Clarke sighed, scratching his chin. "The first lecture is a difficult one anyway. It usually turns out that about four-fifths of the people never return—they can't stand thinking. But the one-fifth that does come back brings friends."

"If people like our discussions, they usually just love them."

"Once they see that I'm not selling cure-all pills or four-way happiness tablets, they relax and we start learning something." Reservations—through the Desert Book Shop—are moving slowly, but continuously.

CLARKE, WHOSE yacht is a floating library with more than 4,000 volumes aboard, figures he reads about 600 books a year.

"I only really digest about 50 of them," he said, ridding his filter-tip of an ash, "and the rest I scan for research material. Most of my reading is for the purpose of bettering my series—I guess that's natural—but I occasionally read something purely for pleasure."

"I almost never read best sellers until they're off the lists for a couple of years. I like to let them jell."

THAT'S NOT AN affectation with Clarke (who is currently putting together a book of his own called "The Anatomy of Ignorance") but merely a requisite of his self-imposed pace. He's been fortunate enough to have missed most of the "different" authors who have popped up in American literature in the last two and a half years.

"It has been my observation that most of them are either fashionably conventional or fashionably different," Clarke said.

"I can't decide which is the least appetizing."

He has opinions on everything, does Clarke.

"BUT SO DOES everyone else," he says, "and mine are not to be confused as anything more than a simple opinion."

Among those opinions are the observations that TV is "the laundromat of the mind," that American economics and the imposed "standard of living have created wall-to-wall problems," and that the world should forget, like Jung, about outer space and worry about their inner space."

How about the great writers he discusses. How about Shakespeare, Dostoevsky and Keats? How about Socrates?

"They'd all be well adjusted in the twentieth century," Clarke said, lighting a last cigarette and crumpling the package.

"Socrates? He'd probably be on TV."

Hollywood Personalities Enjoy Vacation in Desert

RANCHO MIRAGE—Among the Hollywood personalities enjoying the weekend at the Whispering Waters Hotel were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Laughton (Elsa Lanchester), Producer Frank Ross and his wife, Joan Caulfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Halop (he was one of the Dead End Kids).

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Margulies, (Hegglade, Margulies Corporation) of San Francisco, are enjoying a desert visit, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crelanston of Montreal, Canada, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Short, who moved to the desert from their home in Boston two years ago, recently returned from a three week holiday in the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Short is manager of the Gannon Real Estate Office in Palm Springs and the Shorts now make their home on Bel Air Drive in Cathedral City.

Also at Whispering Waters were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Holman from Minneapolis, Minn., Dr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Berg of San Marino, Dr. and Mrs. William Harrison of Santa Monica, Robert Lee Barnes and Roy Gulver of New York and Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beyl of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Recker of Hidden Ranch in Peoria, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. M. Letchman and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wexler of Los Angeles.

And Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Dark of Encino, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Platt of Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mack of West Hollywood and Mr. and Mrs. E. Caplow and Mr. and Mrs. M. Resnick of Los Angeles, parents of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Caplow.

Monthly Matinee Set Saturday

CATHEDRAL CITY—The monthly matinee sponsored by the Cathedral City P-TA will take place at the Cathedral School cafeteria Saturday, Feb. 27. The picture "Alice in Wonderland" will start at 2:30 p.m., and admission will be a donation of 25 cents a person. All children under five must be accompanied by an adult.

Mrs. Paul Adressi, chairman of ways and means, stated that if the matinee prove interesting to the children they will be presented each Saturday afternoon.

Four Complete Hunting Season

CATHEDRAL CITY — Howard Deason, Bob Schmidt, Ray Potter and Bud Moon, members of the Mexican Hunting Association, have just completed a most successful hunting season.

Cathedral City was represented most every weekend during the allotted time between Nov. 1 and March 1. On their trips into Mexico the men took boxes of clothing for the less fortunate families in the areas where they would go to hunt.

British Guiana is about the same size as Great Britain.

On Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Jackson hosted cocktails and dinner celebrating the 27th wedding anniversary of their weekend houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. August Milmier of Huntington Park. Formerly of Fresno, the four have been friends since before they were married. Last Thursday Mrs. Jackson returned from a week in Fresno visiting her sister and family. She had driven her mother, Mrs. Mamie Bush, who had spent part of the winter with them, to her home in Fresno.

Among the guests at Mr. and Mrs. Comstock's Sunation Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Goodhue and their daughter, Mrs. Virginia Hess, queen of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses in 1948. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Zeigler, who were at the Sunation for seven weeks, left Sunday for a visit in Beverly Hills and will return to the desert before leaving for their home in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Mr. and Mrs. Horace T. Major of Montecito left Sunday for Phoenix after a week here and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Leebody, here for three weeks, left for their home in Los Angeles.

Friends from San Francisco, Pennsylvania and Pasadena and relatives from Glendora were weekend houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hollister at their home on Palo Verde Drive over the weekend. G. Thomas Parsons was here from San Francisco and Yewell and Irvine Yankowitch are visiting from their home in Sharon, Pa. Mrs. Hollister's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. John So-soka, make their home in Glendora and Mr. and Mrs. Gebhart make their home in Pasadena where he is publisher of the new newspaper, The Pasadena Mail.

While visiting the Indio Fair and Date Festival, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Johnson were houseguests for a few days last week at the home of their friend, Mrs. A. W. Lynch. Johnson is in the oil business in Long Beach and Mrs. Johnson is a nurse at St. Mary's Hospital there. Last Sunday, Mrs. Lynch drove her daughter and little grandson, Mrs. Beverly E. Lane and Billy, to their home in Long Beach. They had been visiting with her for the past week.

Among the guests at the Sunair Terrace, owned and managed by Mr. and Mrs. Jay Wilson, were their close friends, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ludwig and Mrs. Ludwig's mother, Mrs. Hansen, who left Tuesday for their home in Seattle, Wash., following a two week visit. Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Gannack, who were here for a week, left for their home in Palos Verdes Estates last Monday, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ahlgren and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Mason, also from Seattle, left after a week. Among weekend guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. Edward Scott of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Breckenridge of Reno, Nev.; Mr. and Mrs. George M. Lee from Orange, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Branson Brandin of Manitou, Can.

Mrs. John Sharp's painting, "The Black Glass," won honorable mention award in the still life division of paintings at the Indio Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Harbert left last Thursday for their home in Springfield, Ore. They had been houseguests for the past six weeks of Mrs. Grace Dunkin at her home on Palo Verde Drive and enjoyed two days at the Indio Fair before returning north.

Following a two month winter vacation in Sunair, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Gray left Monday morning for their home in Seaside, Ore. The Grays spend part of each winter in the desert.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Patrick had as their dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Ben Whaley of Pawlette, Vt., who are spending this month at the Sun Glow Apartments in Cathedral City.

New residents Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Culy are now in the new home they recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. George Patrick on Melrose Drive. The Culy's are from San Diego and wanted a desert home large enough to entertain their 23 grandchildren.

Road Extension Request Studied

A request by Isabelle Cameron of Rancho Mirage that consideration be given to the continuation of Monterey Avenue in Palm Desert as a direct road from Highway 111 to Highway 60-70-99 was referred by the Board of Supervisors this week to the planning commission and road department.

The extension would connect Highway 74 across Highway 111 into Kubic Road which continues to the Highway 60-70-99 freeway.

Mrs. John Hemingway Wins Toastmistress Speak-Off

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Mrs. John Hemingway has won the Second Annual Speak-Off of the Desert Hot Springs Toastmistress Club and will represent the club in regional competition, it was announced here today.

Runners-up, in order, were Mrs. Don Hulbert, Mrs. John Young and Mrs. Ferd Peterson.

Judges for the competition were Mrs. Earl Smith, Rev. Charles Harwood, Ray Lusby and Dr. Irving Reece.

The meeting was conducted by Toastmistress President Mrs. Joseph Lukomski.

Board Approves Record of Survey

A Record of Survey map was approved by the Board of Supervisors this week for development by William B. Gardner of Mecca and Richard A. Harris of Sherman Oaks of acreage north of Highway 111 in the Salton Sea area, specifically in Section 21, Township 7 South, Range 10 East. The acreage is to be divided into 45 parcels most of which will contain ten acres. Approval was recommended by the county planning commission.

Villager Beck Reports on Naples

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the third of a series by Harold N. Beck, Village resident who formerly owned the Ocean-side daily paper and now owns the Azusa weekly publication, detailing his impressions of an around the world tour.)

By HAROLD N. BECK

NAPLES, Italy — The story of Naples is the story of an enchantress whose peculiar beauty has for centuries inspired painter and poets. No artist has ever departed from Naples and the colorful area without feeling refreshed in heart and mind. Virgil, Shelley, Browning and Byron felt the spell.

Perhaps there is really no other city in the world that can boast a sea view comparable to that of Naples, where, to use Byron's own words, "everything, except man's spirit, is divine."

ITALY BEGINS AT Florence with its priceless treasures from the Renaissance, speaks of her Christian and pagan past clearest in Rome, comes to full assertion in the bustling city of Naples and its celebrated surroundings scattered around a bay of stunning beauty: Mt. Vesuvius, Pompeii, the Sorrento Peninsula, the Isle of Capri. How romantic the Isle of Capri looks with its dark, angular shape neatly outlined against a clear blue heaven.

Naples, built on a hillside, is a city of beautiful plazas, 300 churches, fascinating museums, and buildings hundreds of years old that stand out in great contrast to modern structures of Mussolini era. For more than 2,500 years the city has been standing on the same spot, though its origins remain veiled by the fog of the centuries. From archaeological excavations it is known that Greek colonists once inhabited it.

IT IS A CITY of one-man shops, no super markets, no drive-ins, numerous gasoline stations selling products familiar to Americans, thousands of small Italian made cars darting frantically here and there with horns honking, and busy, busy traffic. Only a few American made cars are noticeable, but there is the familiar sign of Coca Cola everywhere.

Our visit to Pompeii, two thirds excavated, was a thrilling experience. Pompeii may have existed in the 10th century, B. C., according to archaeological finds. Under the Romans it became a prosperous commercial and industrial center and one of the favorite resorts of the wealthy, with three large theatres and three important public baths.

It had attained a high degree of civilization when, already damaged by a great earthquake in 63 A.D., it was completely destroyed by a new upheaval in 79 A.D. The town was buried by the ashes of Mt. Vesuvius and obliterated. Thousands of people perished. So far, over 4,500 skeletons have been found in the houses, baths and streets. A still higher number of inhabitants died while seeking safety on the highways and the sea shore.

HOUSES, STREETS, public places have been uncovered, due to the comparative softness of the ash as contrasted to the lava and mud which covered Herculaneum, a neighboring city. Besides the household objects in the museums are the plaster casts representing people and animals in the exact shape and position they had when overcome by the overwhelming rain of ashes and lapilli which in time solidified to the consistency of turf.

The organic bodies buried inside were destroyed by the chemistry of decay, leaving a vacuum. As such vacuums were found in the course of excavations, they were filled with liquid plaster, which solidified; then the lava was removed and the plaster cast became an exact replica sometimes with gruesome details of what, or who, lay within. The museums also show carbonized ropes, fabrics, fruits and bread loaves.

THE LAST ERUPTION of towering Mt. Vesuvius took place in 1944. The volcano, which has been active many times through the centuries, no longer smokes. The only thing that can be seen today inside the cone is a fearful chasm with sheer rock walls. An observatory is built halfway up the mountainside to register the pulse of the ground beneath in order to give ample warning to the underlying towns should anything happen.

Luncheon was had in a former convent lying on the mountainside high above the picturesque and beautiful village of Amalfi. Two elevators had to be taken to reach the convent, built in 1212 and occupied by the Capuchin monks. They greatly embellished the already beautiful construction, which is famous for its peristyled cloister, its terrace pergola and flowerlined loggias.

THE AMALFI DRIVE along nearly 40 miles of the Tyrrhenian Sea is an engineering masterpiece with breathtaking scenery. Many of the mountainsides from the high way to the sea are planted with lemon and orange trees that have grape vine and artificial coverings to protect them from rain and wind. One wonders how the land, on almost sheer cliffs, can be cultivated, but the Italians seem to be ingenious in producing crops in the most peculiar places.

Noticeable near the charming town of Sorrento were watchtowers erected by Charles V along the coast to sound warnings against pirate raids. Huge bonfires were lit to warn the people to scamper to the hills.

We left Naples, her historical relics, her enchanting environs truly sorry our visit to a friendly, smiling people in an interesting land had come to an end.

Japan is now the world's leader in the production of electronics equipment. Production reached 555 million dollars in 1958, twice as much as three years ago.

Craig Services Held in Indio On Wednesday

Funeral services were conducted in Indio yesterday for Alex B. Craig, 85, who died earlier this week at the Palm Springs home of his son, Richard Craig.

A retired contractor, Craig had been living at the Indio home of a second son, Stanley Craig.

Besides his two sons, Craig leaves his widow, Anna, of Indio; three grandchildren and a sister.

Graveside services were conducted at Coachella Valley Cemetery in Indio yesterday afternoon by Rev. Walter H. Reuning, of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Palm Springs. Rev. C. A. McClain Jr., of the First Methodist Church of Indio, officiated at funeral services conducted earlier at the FitzHenry Funeral Home Chapel in Indio.

Conant Report To Be Discussed

Parents and interested citizens were today invited to hear discussion of Dr. James B. Conant's reports on the American high school at tonight's Board of Education meeting.

Schools Supt. Dwight Twist said participation of parents will be welcomed in the discussion. The board meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., at the high school music building.

known sportsman and hunter of African wild game who recently donated her hunting trophies to the museum in Berlin. Originally from Rhode Island, the is greater because it is positive. It is based on absolute standards of honesty, purity, unselfishness and love.

The "negativism" of Fascism has become more than a twice-told tale, Hannelore feels, and the Red practices of the art are readily apparent. The West, she also indicated, should emulate the methods—but not the attitude—of Communism in gearing some of its cultural materials to carry the message of freedom.

"MUCH OF OUR art— theater, motion pictures, the dance—carry the story of the disease without ever letting people know that there is a cure," she said.

Launched upon a career in the theater in 1947, Hannelore soon came under the influence of Communist teachers. She discovered that not only did the Reds import new plays from Moscow weighted with the Soviet's ideological message but that the Communistic cultural bosses tampered with such classics as Goethe's "Faust" and other plays in order to "load" them with their doctrine.

"They are out to break your faith and moral fibre," she said. "And they have been greatly successful."

RECOGNITION OF the need for stories with a "counter-moral" to Communism by MRA has proven a mighty weapon in the war for men's minds, the actress says.

"Today," she said, "there are 22 Moral Re-Armament casts performing throughout the world in much the same manner we are performing in Palm Springs."

The casts are scattered in such "trouble spots" as West Africa, Berlin, the corners of Asia and the Near East. Hannelore doesn't consider America a "trouble spot" but figures that many Americans believe in the spirit of freedom, the "spirit of Washington and Jefferson and Lincoln" without knowing why.

"THE PLAYS AND the musicals show what that spirit is," she said. "The world is coming to know what these men stood for and finding that their spirit is worthwhile."

"I hope that many Americans do the same."

Tuesday First Aid Class Will Meet On Friday, Too

Meetings of the Tuesday session of an American Red Cross First Aid class will also meet on Fridays, beginning tomorrow, it was announced today by the instructor.

Mrs. Ben Griffith said that the class, which meets at 9:30 a.m., Tuesdays, will meet at 9:30 a.m., each Friday, also.

The Friday class will be held in the Girl Scout Little House, at 987 Avenida Caballeros, she said.

Another class, instructed by Andrew Smith, meets at 7:30 p.m., tonight, in Palm Springs High School, she said.

AUDIENCE ENJOYS CONCERT HERE BY THE FELD QUARTET

By GEORGE LAINE

Four Europeans with a gypsy-like flavor to their playing held a capacity crowd virtually spellbound in the grossly inadequate Desert Museum Monday night.

The Feld Quartet, which is currently maintaining a year of residence at the University of Redlands, gave a bold and confident reading to Mozart's G Major Quartet, failed to match that performance in Brahms' weighty A Minor Quartet, did an adequate but unimpressive rendition of Borodin's D. Major Quartet and climaxed things with interpretations of four Hungarian dances—adapted for string quartet by Budapest composer Leo Weiner—that not only stole but saved the show.

gypsy-like qualities in his playing. The second, a dance that sounded more Roumanian than Hungarian to me, was a lickety-split thing that had all four members of the quartet bowing frantically, an exhibition that the crowd savored.

The third dance was another melody that was more gypsy than string quartet and the fourth was still another fireworks display by the four bowmen.

IT SHOULD BE made clear, for the person who mentioned it near the door, that Borodin did not write the music for "Kismet," but rather that the score of this quartet was "adapted" for use in the Broadway musical.

On the whole, Monday's audience generally behaved better than any Palm Springs audience I have yet been involved with except for the rather obnoxious misdeed of a few persons leaving the room between selections. Performers may do this in all correctness, but audiences are expected to remain seated until intermission. (The program usually prints the intermission notice.)

New Record

188,302 Attend Fair at Indio

INDIO — Attendance at the 1959 Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival which closed its successful 10-day run here Monday night, set a new high mark of 188,302 scored two years ago. And the 1959 total is 26,000 above the 1958 results when 162,850 were counted through the Festival turnstiles.

FESTIVAL OFFICIALS were particularly pleased with the record-breaking attendance this year since bad weather plagued the exposition through most of its run. Rain fell on the grounds on two days, and rainy or unsettled weather was experienced in the Los Angeles area over a six-day period. More than 70 per cent of the Festival's attendance originates in Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange and San Diego Counties.

Credit for the Festival's fine showing was extended by the manager to the newspapers and radio stations of Southern California which supported the exposition generously with their publicity. Date Festival news stories were furnished to nearly 400 newspapers and more than 20 radio stations.

"WE WANT EVERY newspaper and radio station to know how deeply we appreciate this fine support of the Festival," Fullenwider said. "Without such assistance our event would be impossible. And I know that this same holds true for scores of other similar celebrations in California each year."

Attendance surveys conducted during the Festival showed that 35 states were represented among visitors on a single day.

The average number of shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange during 1958 was 4,877,000, of which 15 per cent changed hands in the course of the year.

Brownies See Bees at Work

Watching the bees at work was an interesting outing for Brownie Troop 103 of Cielo Vista School when they went on an after school outing Monday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heyl in the Outpost Estates and were shown around the bee hives. Heyl gave a short talk on the life of the bees and opened one of the hives so the children could observe the bee colony at work.

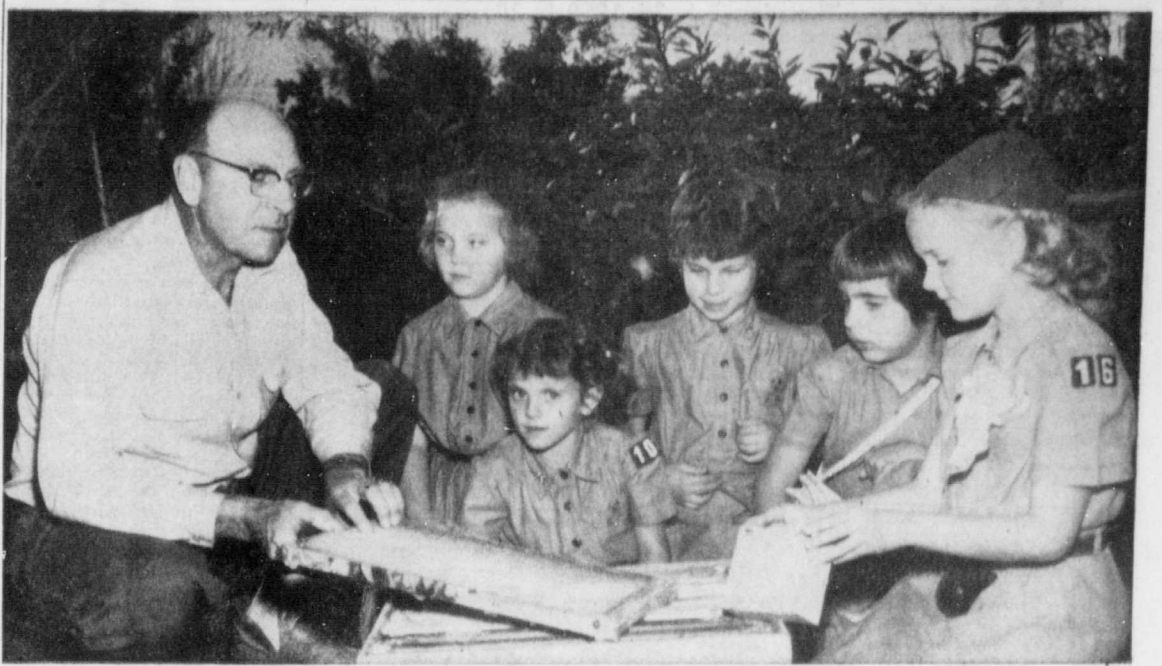

Refreshments were served the children by Mrs. Heyl.

Troop 103 is composed of girls in the second, third and fourth grades at Cielo Vista School. Mrs. Skee Howeth and Mrs. Dorothy Manthey are the leaders.

Included in the group are Christine Anderson, Sherry Chernow, Barbara Lozano, Diana Neil, Christine Mutascio, Jackie Rosenbaum, Sandy Handmaker, Marion Lish, Bonnie Brady, Marcia Howeth, Melinda Macy, Cova McGowan, Phyllis Ortega, Elizabeth Salaway, Janny Handmaker, Joyce Wilson, Francie Berta, Gina Johnson, Cecilia Manthey, Debbie Morrison, Sharon Rosenbaum, Tamarr Chait and Myrna Apelby.

Former Villager Here on Weekend

Former Villager visiting in town over the weekend, was Eleanor Wagner who now resides in Hollywood where she is editor for General Aviation News.

Con Maffie Gives Organ Recital

It was truly "An Evening of Organ Enchantment" when Con Maffie, noted radio and television artist, appeared at the console of the Hammond organ in the Palm Springs Woman's Club clubhouse Monday night. The large audience in attendance met each number of his concert with enthusiastic applause in appreciation of his delightful music.

Con Maffie's outstanding professional training made him master of the keyboard at all times and he makes all his own organ arrangements. He presented his program under the titles of Latin Rhythms, Inspirational music, Orchestral Sounds, Manhattan Melodies, Music for Lovers and International Favorites.

The program was given to the Woman's Club with entire proceeds to be used toward the scholarships which the club gives each year to Palm Springs students.

Mrs. Ben Read was in charge of arrangements for the evening and following the concert, cake and coffee were served, with Mrs. Clare Kinne and Mrs. Foster Simonson presiding at the tea tables.

Stars Mingle With First Nighters

One hundred and seventy-seven First Nighters turned out Tuesday evening for the weekly First Nighter dinner held at the Racquet Club.

One hundred and seventy-seven First Nighters turned out Tuesday evening for the weekly First Nighter dinner held at the Racquet Club.

It was a gala evening with a festive crowd looking forward to the opening performance of Pamela Britton in "Bus Stop" at the Palm Springs Playhouse. Mrs. William Otto, Playhouse Guild hostess for the evening, was assisted by Miss Jeanne Ballard and Mmes. V. M. Barton, Burnham Bigelow and William Iverson, in greeting the arriving guests. Guild President Mrs. John F. Lucareni and her husband hosted a table of 11, including Mr. and Mrs. Harpo Marx, Mrs. Ben Hecht and daughter Jenny who is in the cast of next week's play: Mrs. John McClure, the V. M. Bartons, Rudolph Anders and Arthur Steel. Mrs. W. F. Schlothan had as her guests Mmes. Gladys Stroud, E. Welcome, John Hamrick, C. Duncan, the Allen Archers, A. F. Welles Jr., and Miss Almarine Adams.

A party of six, hosted by Mrs. Henry Passow, included Mmes. Florence Larned, Jessie LeGro, Bruck Richardson from Winnipeg; Miss Olga Borch of Merchantville, N. J., and Miss Helen Eastlack of Haddonfield, N. J.

Dr. and Mrs. Sam Salinger were there with the Chester Adlers; Mrs. Frank Russell Payne and Mrs. Betty West, with the Martin Wades; Mrs. Francis Pruitt with the Richard Bagdasarians; Mrs. Joan McManus and Alan Maclean with the L. H. Coopers; Miss Wynne Hubbard with the Walter Funnings; Dr. and Mrs. Ragner T. Soderlund of Minneapolis; Miss Addie Hubbard with Mrs. Mildred Jackson; Albert Arenberg and Mrs. Walter Gips of Chicago, with the Barney Gengenbachs; Mrs. John Alley and Mrs. Fred Lofland with Mrs. Howard Carpenter; Mrs. G. R. Kirk of Tacoma, Mrs. S. D. Barry, with Mrs. Robert Ellsworth; Mrs. James Wylie of Los Altos, Mrs. Arthur Hutchinson, Mrs. Alice Cook, with Mrs. George F. Anderson.

Others in the crowd were: the Michael Ferralls, James Logan Abernathys, Thomas Colbys, Mrs. Herbert Burns, the Arthur Coffeys, Alex Crawford, Earl Hendersons, Mrs. Arthur Jarwood; the Fred Klemps, Joseph Clapps, Ralph McDonalds, Ralph Parkers, Mrs. Madge Phillips, Mrs. Paul Neal, and many more.

Mrs. Arthur Coffey will hostess next week's First Nighter dinner, which will be held at the Tennis Club.

Clean antique-finished brass by rubbing it with commercial boiled linseed oil or pure lemon oil. Other brass may be cleaned with commercial cleaner or paste of rottenstone and boiled linseed oil. Remove paste with cloth moistened in boiled linseed oil and polish with dry cloth.

FIRST NIGHTERS attending this week's First Nighter dinner at the Racquet Club, were hostessed by Mrs. William Otto, right, representing the Playhouse Guild. With her is Harpo Marx, and Jenny Hecht, who will appear in the cast of next week's play. Jenny is the daughter of the Ben Hechts (he's the famous author-producer) who are staying at the Desert Inn for a couple of weeks. (Anderson Photo)

Anniversary Is Celebrated at Manor Room

The 12th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Canning was the occasion for a delightful celebration at the Howard Manor, with the party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pine, noted producer.

Guests joining in the fun and listening to the honor guests being serenaded with "Happy Anniversary," by both of the Manor's orchestras Murray Arnold and his orchestra, and Pepe Callahan and his Latin American Group, included Mrs. Ted Blumie, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fretz, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Knauft of Beverly Hills.

Returns Home

Jake Risburd returned to his home in Kansas Wednesday after spending a few weeks visiting his daughter, Mrs. Katie Nelson at 870 San Lorenzo Road.

Area Leaders Warned to Prepare, Block Smog Before It Comes Here

As it apparently must to all well populated areas, smog and all its choking, eye-watering elements will soon come knocking on the door of Riverside County.

Now, the trick is to keep the door closed, says Clifton Seymour, chief engineer for the county's Air Pollution Control District, and make sure it remains air-tight.

IT'S SEYMOUR'S job to plot the groundwork of the county's air pollution battle—a normally uphill slugfest that usually winds up with a gasping 10-count for the communities concerned.

But Seymour feels that Riverside County has a better than even chance of beating old devil smog before it gets a foothold in this heretofore unblighted area.

"We're just getting started, but if we get an adequate staff," Seymour said, "this can be one of the cleanest counties in the country, so far as air pollution is concerned."

SEYMOUR, HEADMAN of the county's air pollution program since 1957, last night outlined the progress of APCD for members of the Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee, meeting at Carr's Restaurant in Desert Hot Springs.

He reported that the county has already undertaken the first major steps in sealing off possible smog portals by enacting rules and regulations for the control of air pollution.

SEYMOUR EXPLAINED that open burning and incinerators will be banned in 1962 and industrial equipment was brought under county control and inspection Feb. 1.

The district now has two major problems confronting it—public education and information and adequate personnel to police and investigate possible sources of air contamination.

SEYMOUR SAID the district now needs at least two inspectors, one to inspect industry and register its equipment and another to answer complaints and police "flagrant" violators.

He made it clear that smog holds a definite threat for the county, pointing out that the county is blanketed by the same inversion layer (a low-hanging mass of hot air) that ranges from Hawaii to Phoenix and from Southern California to Washington and Oregon.

This air mass, Seymour noted, confines such high-grade irritants as ozone—a principal offender—which builds up in proportion to the population and industrial growth of a given area.

THE CURRENT growth of Riverside County indicates that now is the time to take effective action against the inevitable.

"It's impossible to break through the inversion layer and let the contaminants dissipate naturally," Seymour remarked, "so we must check air pollution at its source."

Fortunately, Seymour related, "we have a good start."

"Air pollution in the county isn't anywhere near the level of Los Angeles, San Francisco or even San Diego," he noted.

SEYMOUR SAID that four air monitoring stations are now functioning in various parts of the county, installed with the cooperation of the State Department of Public Health.

More are needed, particularly in the Indio and Palm Springs areas, where no information on air contaminants is currently available.

"We'd like to know what's happening in Indio and Palm Springs," Seymour said, "but so does everyone else."

Knowledge is the county's biggest weapon, and the APCD has to know when and where contaminants reach a "toxic" level, what creates the contaminants and how to prevent their accumulation before the battle really gets underway.

Trouserectomy

WES THARTFORD, Conn. — (UPI) — Three physicians living in the same part of town were the "patients" in a neat operation that cost them a total of $200.

Thieves slipped into the homes of Drs. Herbert F. Laramore, Albert J. Dunn and Edward P. White, and, while the doctors were sleeping, cleaned out their trouser pockets.

By DEENIE YOUNG
PALM DESERT — The swash-bucklin', early American west with its sources of mineral and cattle wealth, the flamboyant rise and fall of families and strenuous will to live, conquer, love and endure, is a more exciting and lucrative field for novelists than present-day times, according to Mrs. Marian Castle, noted authoress, TV panelist and authority on Western Americana.

With three historical top-sellers to her credit, "Deborah," "The Golden Fury" and "Roxana," Mrs. Castle should know what she is talking about.

VACATIONING FOR the present at Candlewood Lodge before completing her fourth story-telling series into the pioneering west, Mrs. Castle talked about the past.

"Character was much more clearly delineated in the sixties and seventies and even eighties and nineties, than it is today. People were good or bad, black or white. There was no in-between."

"Life was more difficult, more dangerous and cruel. It was also more colorful—richer by far and wider in scope."

A TALL, HANDSOME woman with vivacious movements and a humorous smile, Mrs. Castle belongs to a rare species. She is a novelist who has for more than 25 years written as she pleased and made a successful living from it.

"Most of it was hard work and part of it was good luck," she laughed. "Not the least of it was due to the fact that for years while learning to write, I used the pseudonym of a man, because editors refused to believe in those days that a woman could handle convincingly such subjects as gun-fire, outlaws, cattle wars and death."

CONTRIBUTING AT various times in her life to many of the "prestige" magazines, Mrs. Castle strongly denies the claim that writing for confessions, who-dunnits and science-fiction are detrimental to an author's more serious efforts.

"On the contrary," she said. "Those are the markets which still pay off. If a writer has a knack—and if he doesn't have a knack, he shouldn't try to be a writer—he can easily switch his level of thought."

FOLLOWING HER graduation from the University of Chicago in the 20's, Mrs. Castle moved to Denver, Colo., where she soon embarked on her study of western Americana. Since then, according to many of her critics, she has traveled far, both in the field of practical accomplishment and in the realm of creative thought. But the story of Colorado's pioneering, she says, will always remain the most fascinating.

"In Denver today, I'm still able to find children of men and women who came in covered wagons and settled the state," she said.

"I listen to their stories, to their tales of the past."

"ON COLD WINTER mornings I can see through my studio window the mountains, with snow packed white, to the farthest peaks."

"I remember the mass migrations of people, the founding of dynasties, the fortunes won and lost."

"I remember the mysterious 'mountain sickness,' from which thousands suffered and died and whose source modern science is unable to discover . . ."

"Well, then if I'm lucky," suddenly she grinned, "I have another story."

Rancho Mirage

By JEAN PATANE

On an extended desert visit, Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roe are houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Campbell at their home on Mirage Road. Dr. Roe recently retired from his dental practice in Street, Ill. This is the Roe's first visit to California and last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Campbell introduced them to Las Vegas. This past Sunday they entertained with a cocktail party at their home in honor of their guests. While here the Roes will visit La Jolla, Los Angeles and other places of interest.

House in Malibu, were here for a week visiting with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Bennett of Shelton, Wash., returned again this winter for an extended visit at Desert Holiday.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. John Vale hosted luncheon at Whispering Waters hotel for Mmes. Harold Murphy, Herbert Carpenter, Ed Hunt and Genevieve Berg of Palm Springs. During the week the Vales entertained with cocktails at their home and dinner at Shadow Mountain Club honoring Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Faatz of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of Beverly Hills. Mr. Thompson is vice president of a greeting card company.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Fox of Santa Monica and their son, Brian, were here for another weekend at their Rio Del Sol Road home.

Cynthia Flower, who spent the holiday weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow Flower, Sr., left Monday for Santa Barbara where she is attending University of California.

Mike Buccino was home for a few days from his studies at San Diego College for Men. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Buccino, of Buccino Interiors, left Sunday for a few days of business and pleasure in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Campbell—he is with Sunair Development—left over the weekend for a few days in Las Vegas.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: When the lights go out I like to give my wife a bedtime kiss. Did you ever kiss a woman with her teeth out? Well, that's my problem I can tell you it isn't very much fun. She used to wear her teeth to bed but lately she takes them out because she says they hurt her. I tell her to go get them fixed but she says they don't bother her that much. Be a pal, Abby, and help me out.

NOT SATISFIED
DEAR NOT: Cajole, threaten or bribe but get the little woman to the dentist who made her dentures. A tiny bit of adjusting can make a whale of a difference in your domestic relations.

DEAR ABBY: I am too ashamed to sign my name to this letter but I hope you will print it in the paper because I need an answer and I don't know where to turn. My eleven-year-old son is getting to be a very clever thief. I give him a generous allowance and if he'd ask for anything extra he would get it, but he seems to enjoy stealing. He steals from his friends, the grocer, the druggist and he will even go into my purse and steal money. I see things in his drawer I know he didn't buy. I've threatened to take him to the police station to frighten him but nothing helps. Oh, Abby, am I raising a criminal. Please help a broken-hearted mother.

BROKEN-HEARTED

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR BROKEN-HEARTED: A child who steals merely for the thrill of stealing should get professional help. He can be straightened out if he is taken in hand early. Threatening him with punishment by law is unwise. A policeman should be identified as a friend whose duty it is to protect us and our property—not as an enemy who takes pleasure in punishing our wrongdoing. Ask your family doctor whom to see.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a wife who comes home with an expensive item like a dress or handbag and announces, "This is my Christmas present from you." Sometimes it's "my anniversary present" or "my birthday present" or some other special-day present. In the sixteen years that we have been married I haven't been able to buy her one gift because she beats me to it by three months. As an excuse she says she wants to make sure she gets something she likes. I resent it. What can I do about it?

HENPECKED
DEAR HENPECKED: If you've been "henpecked" in this manner for sixteen years, I'd say you were a pretty dumb duck. Tell the little shopper that the next "gift" she buys herself she will have to pay for it or return.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is always the "life of the party" but he will be the death of me. He will do anything to get a laugh, including putting a lampshade on his head and doing the "hootchie kootchie" dance. I am the quiet type and hate to see him make a fool of himself. How can I get him to be more dignified? He is almost 50 and ought to know better.

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: If your husband enjoys himself and others enjoy him, there is no reason to feel that he is "making a fool" of himself. Let him have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: Some cheap neighbors of ours bought a mailbox without a flag because they got a bargain, so they use our mailbox to put their outgoing mail in. I didn't mind this until I saw her looking over my mail as she was putting hers in our box. Then later she'd ask me what did so and so have to say? Do you think it would be nifty of me to ask her not to use our mailbox any more? The lady across the road said she had the same trouble with her.

PROBLEMS
DEAR PROBLEMS: Mail is a private affair. Tell her you'd prefer that she not use your mailbox and suggest that her husband devise some makeshift flag system for their own box.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Good Old Days
EASTON, Pa. (UPI)—A Lafayette College expense ledger for a year in the 1840's came to light recently and included such items as: "Building whitewashed, $3.50; 103 pounds of beef, $4.12; toll to Jersey for a girl, 24 cents; to stranger for apples and pears, 44 cents."

Woman Thanks Deputy for Saving Her Life

Mariam Rudolph believes that from now on she'll probably be spending part of each day telling her friends about Deputy Sheriff Richard Holder of Banning.

"I almost have to," she told The Desert Sun yesterday. "He saved my life."

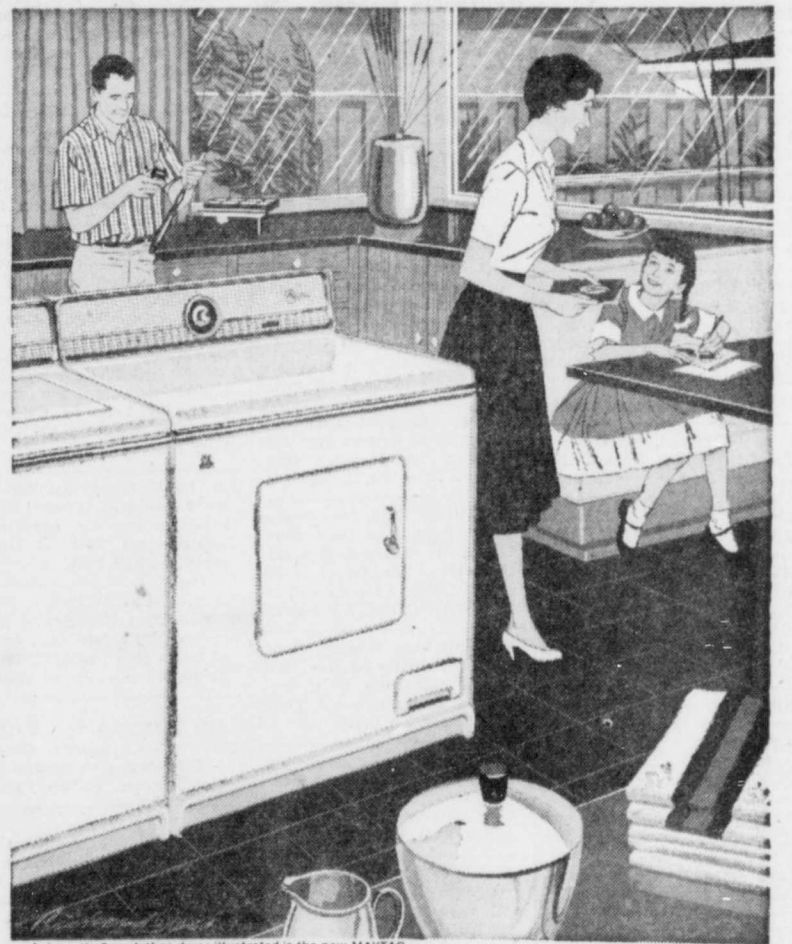

MARIAM, who lives at 615 Ocotillo Avenue, discovered at 4 a.m., Saturday, that her iron lung wasn't functioning properly. She wasn't really alarmed until 6 a.m., however. That's when the machine stopped.

When it was discovered that Desert Hospital couldn't help her husband called the Riverside County Sheriff's Substation at Banning. Deputy Holder and an ambulance were dispatched here and by 7 a.m., Mrs. Rudolph was breathing comfortably again in an iron lung at Riverside County Hospital.

BY 1 P.M., MARIAM'S husband Burwell had returned from Los Angeles with a new iron lung and by 5 p.m., Mrs. Rudolph was home in Palm Springs. All she needs now is rest.

"But I've got to thank that deputy," she repeated. "He saved my life."

Two Kennedys
BOSTON —(UPI)—The name of John F. Kennedy will appear twice on the Massachusetts ballot this year. One is John Fitzgerald Kennedy, seeking his second term in the U. S. Senate. The other is State Treasurer John Francis Kennedy, no relation, out after his third term. Both are Democrats.
